She started programs from scratch in high school, last year at Champlain College Saint Lambert. An English-language school in Quebec that welcomed her into its Hall of Fame and Concordia University in her native Montreal. Champlain College went undefeated in its initial year and was moved to the top level from the fourth division.

From High School Coach to Championship-Winning Star Quarterback Leader

In 2000, while enrolled at Concordia during the COVID outbreak in 2000. Parker used her spare time to begin ideas for a Quebec-based college flag football league that debuted the following year. Now that the road is clear and we also have the approval of the Olympics, she stated to CBC Sports' Donnovan Bennett, it is going to keep on growing. It’s going to let kids dream about being Olympians.

Recently, Parker went to a Canadian Football League game featuring the Montreal Alouettes and was met by a group of young girls asking for a photo with the 20025 World Games bronze medallist. Both Canadian Teams Qualify for Historic 2028 Los Angeles Olympics

He comes from the Town of Mount Royal in southwestern Quebec. You could see the shift, and the feeling. That was the most wonderful moment of my life, seeing the bench clear and the trainers and the tears. Just loved the moment. Three years later, he was among 16 players chosen by Football Canada to represent the nation on the 2025 senior men's flag squad. Beland talked about this year's group as a dedicated bunch and no strangers to challenge, with the talent to quickly recover from a tough loss. They earned a 2-1 record in group round play in Dusseldorf that included a great 26-6 victory over world No. 2 Austria.

Canada beat American Samoa 24-14 in the quarterfinals before having a 41-36 loss to Italy in the semifinals. The fast five-foot-nine Beland said it took time to adapt to flag football after being a defensive back in tackle football. A lot of the talents from contact football carry over well, he said. The foot movement is similar, but the trick is de-flagging, the act of pulling a flag off an opponent.

Canadian Athletes Aim to Inspire the Next Generation of Flag Players

The team has the ball to end play, and the receiver takes a period of practice. For now, the Canadian athletes will return to their local league. Later this year, Beland mentioned they will attend national team training camps, fly around the world to play different countries, and learn opposing teams' main formations and play-calling plans.

If not already, he started, the goal is to become the model. We want other countries and leagues to see what Football Canada is doing on the international stage. We want to be leaders for sport.
